Professor J. Angelo Corlett earned his PhD in philosophy from the University of Arizona in 1992, with a focus in ethics, philosophy of law, and epistemology. A philosopher and Professor of Philosophy & Ethics at San Diego State University, his pedagogical areas of specialization concern moral, social, political and legal philosophy. More specifically, they include issues of ethnic and racial identity, rights, collective responsibility, punishment, racism, reparations, humanitarian intervention, social ontology and knowledge, global justice and international law, terrorism, philosophy of religion, among others. He also lectures domestically and internationally on these and other philosophical issues.

Professor Corlett has published more than 100 books and articles in philosophy. His articles appear in such journals as: American Philosophical Quarterly; Analysis; The Classical Quarterly; Journal of Social Philosophy; Philosophia (Israel); and Philosophy (The Royal Institute of Philosophy, London). His books include Analyzing Social Knowledge (Rowman & Littlefield, 1996); Race, Racism, and Reparations (Cornell, 2003); Terrorism: A Philosophical Analysis (Kluwer, 2003); Interpreting Plato's Dialogues (Parmenides, 2005); Race, Rights, and Justice (Springer 2009); The Errors of Atheism (Continuum, 2010); Heirs of Oppression (Rowman & Littlefield, 2010); and Responsibility and Punishment (Springer 2014); they have been reviewed in such journals as Analysis; Ethics; and Mind. He is currently working on a book about social knowledge and social reality, and has recently completed his book, Interpreting Plato Socratically.

In addition to teaching and research/writing, Professor Corlett has served as the Editor-in-Chief of The Journal of Ethics: An International Philosophical Review (Springer) since 1996. This journal has a 5% acceptance rate for unsolicited submissions, and enjoys the highest journal rankings from both the Australian Research Council and the European Science Foundation. He also serves as a media consultant on ethical issues for various media agencies throughout the United States and internationally, including Reuters, NBC, ABC, CBS, National Public Radio, The New York Times, and The Los Angeles Times.
